

Cristal Finley

Transformational Speaker

Podcast Host | Coach

Bio

Cristal is the co-founder of Hers For The Taking, host of the She Made It Happen podcast and business professional whose relatable and actionable speaking style inspires passion in the audience and leaves them wanting to create change.

Early on, Cristal didn't realize her own potential and what she brought to the table. Since that point, she has advanced through positions and had to learn a lot of new skills to continue to create opportunities she wanted.

She has always found that what separates you from the crowd is being willing to take action. You need to be ready to expand and become the person you have always dreamed of becoming to reach your big goals. Her mission is to help you reach your next steps by providing you the tools to discover your unique brand and goals and develop the action plan to get you on your way.
